SECTION B – Project Definition

1. Please explain the project for which you are requesting funding and how it fits within the definition of prevention. Explain the need that is to be met.

The Need for a Project to address Seniors in Isolation

The lack of social support should be added to the 'short list' of risk factors for an early grave. Analysis of more than 300,000 people, suggest social isolation is as bad for your health as smoking 15 cigarettes a day or being an alcoholic. It also does more damage to your health than not exercising, and is twice as harmful as obesity. (CORNWELL, E. Y., & WAITE, L. J., 2009).

The number of seniors calling St. Albert their home is on a steady rise. The Seniors Working Group members have expressed concern that there a growing number of older adults who live alone and are not connected with community programs and/ or have limited support networks. According to the Seniors Outreach Coordinator at the St. Albert Seniors Association, there are many local seniors who have not yet been to Red Willow Place and are unaware of the many programs offered there and through other agencies in St. Albert. One of the 2017 priorities for the Seniors Working Group is to prevent isolation in seniors within our community. An information subcommittee was formed with the intention of raising awareness of this issue and promoting local St. Albert resources for those who are at risk for being isolated.

Our Proposed Project:

The information subcommittee would like to produce brochures and newspaper ads which highlight nine real life scenarios (which were developed by a practicum student) where seniors appear to be struggling and neighbours offer support by sharing local St. Albert resources (for example the St. Albert Library's Homebound Service). The Spring Grant would support the production and printing of the brochures and cost of featuring the ads in the newspaper. Also included in this initiative, are ten dollar activity coupons for the St. Albert Seniors Association. These coupons will be distributed to seniors who are at risk of isolation through programs such as meals on wheels, seniors' transportation and the Christmas packages. Seniors activity coupons would be given to seniors who are at risk of isolation to encourage socialization. Promotional items such as magnifying glasses would be distributed at the Seniors Expo, Lifestyle Expo, Farmer's Market and events during Seniors Week to bring awareness to the issue of seniors living in isolation and provide local contact numbers for support available to the residents of St. Albert.

2. What project outcomes do you hope to achieve with these grant funds and how will you know you have achieved them?

Older adults and those who support them will have an increased understanding of the local supports available to seniors to prevent isolation. We will know we achieved our outcome by the number of brochures distributed, and increased calls to the St. Albert Seniors Association requesting to speak with the Seniors Outreach Coordinator on isolation concerns. We also anticipate an increase in the participation of older adult programs and services in St. Albert. The Seniors Working Group members will be tracking their interactions with older adults who may be at risk of isolation between July 1, 2017 and October 1, 2017. We will then track the number of interactions with this at risk population one year later to see if the number has changed. Additionally, a code will be entered for every ten dollar coupon that is received by the Seniors Association. Once a senior has attended a program at Red Willow Place, they are more likely to continue attending which would decrease their chance of becoming socially isolated.

3. How will the project incorporate voluntarism and community support?

Members of the information committee are willing to donate their time to create this brochure. The organizations on this committee include: RCMP, CIVC, Senior's Association, Further Education, St. Albert Library and Community & Social Development. Citizens on Patrol and Neighbourhood Watch have been consulted and both committees are in support of this project. Older Adults in St. Albert have been asked for their feedback on the draft brochure at the Senior's Working Group booth at the May 2017 Seniors Expo. Additionally, after the brochures and promotional items are produced they will be distributed by volunteers in the community.

4. Are you aware of similar services being provided by other groups in the community? If yes, please explain how your project differs from, or complements, these services.

There is no current resource in St Albert which focuses solely on preventing isolation in seniors and features local supports available. There is a Seniors directory, however we feel that its necessary to address isolation and by giving scenarios we will raise awareness and demonstrate how easily community members can assist older adults in connecting with others and preventing isolation. We confirmed that no similar resource is available in Edmonton.

5. Describe the implications of not receiving (or receiving less of) the grant funding requested for the project. What is your organization's contribution to the project?

If the requested funding is not received it will be difficult to develop the brochure and our printing will be very limited. Our members are stretched thin financially therefore there is no extra funds from the committee. Additionally, we will not be able to produce any promotional items to raise awareness of seniors in isolation.

If we are successful in obtaining the Spring Grant our committee members are committed to writing the brochure as well distributing them throughout the community. We will ensure that the graphic design is professionally done and the printing is of high quality. CIVC has confirmed the time and capacity to assume the banker role for this project.
